ATEANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 28, 1878. Two of the new judges, Messra, Hood and Crisp, are natives of East Tennessee The East Tennesseean has a very keen scent for office or other good position in life He is the southern rival of the man from Ohio.

GOVERNOR HAMPTON is, we are glad to state, rapidly recovering from the effects of the accident received while engaged in hunting. His election to the United States senate is almost undisputed. General Gary feels aggrieved, but it is plain that he will have to wait.

THE pliancy of the republican party the currency question is manifest in even the extreme east, where, it is authorita tively stated, Mr. Blaine has arranged to elect Mr. Smith, the greenback candidate, governor. This is to be accomplished by alition of the republicans and greenbackers in the legislature. Green! are in fact but assistants of the republican party, helping it in each state in one way or another. We need scarcely add that Mr. Smith has been promised the re publican nomination next fall.

THE world's bonded indebtedness has been ascertained. In exact figures it is stated at $22,937,036,780-nearly twentythree thousand million dollars. We do not print these figures to astonish a distinguished jurist who says that he does not believe there ever was such a thing as a million of dollars in one holding, not exceed ten thousand millions, or less than one-half of the world's bonded indebtedness. The total indebtedness, publie. corporate and private, is probably seven times greater than the amount of gold coin in existence; and yet the monometalists have the effrontery to denounce all who do not agree with them as idiots.

To-pay will be observed throughout the greater part of the country as a day for publicly thanking the Giver of all Good for the blessings He has bestowed upon as during the past year. While Governor Colquitt has not deemed it necessary to issue a proclamation, deeming perhaps the president's sufficient, the people of Georgia have great reason to be nkful. Our crops are as large as those of neighboring states, our territory has not been shaken by earthquakes or disturbed by ruinous cyclones, and in addition to all these blessings, we have been the young people will so hedge their digspared from the desolation and distress of but a merciful Providence stayed the pespublic assemblages, yet their thanks will

In 1876 he was elected governor of Alabama, since which time his public career has been familiar to all who the department, brought forcibly to the are interested in Alabama affairs.

The Legislature at Work. The general impression seems to be that the legislature is doing very little. The fact that the body meets at 10 o'clock and adjourns at 1 o'clock is emphasized by numerous newspapers and corre spondents as conclusive evidence of an expensive idleness on the part of our law-makers. These strictures are not just. Few people have any idea of the work required to perform the labors of a legislative session. The various committees meet at 3 o'clock every afternoon, and are in session until dark. Frequently they meet after tea and work until a late hour on the mass of bills whose fate they so frequently determine The committee on railroads passed a resolution last Tuesday to meet every night at half-past seven, and their sessions are long and tedious. Several of the committees meet every morning before the hour for the assembling of the legisla-ture, and work until ten o'clock. The present general assembly is in a peculiar and difficult position. While as yet there appears to be little definite result from eir labors, yet it must be admitted that a vast amount of necessary preliminary work has been done, the benefit of which will be experienced in the facilitated progress of the future. Let us do the honorable gentlemen justice.

An Inter-State Duel. Sometime ago the governor of the great and good commonwealth of Kansas sent a requisition to the governor of the great and good commonwealth of Ohio for the arrest of a person charged "upon information" with the crime of seduction. Upon the advice of the attorney eral of the latter state, the warran was refused upon the ground that the apation was not made upon indictm form, was made, but the attorney-general refused. eference to his court, in an article under the head of "City Politics," was intended as a reflection on that officer. We certainly intended to leave no such impression. We referred to the fact stated as evidence that means were being used to preyent men from being punished for tions of the city ordinances, and we ertainly meant no reflection whatever on any city officer. So far as we know Captain Milledge, he has discharged the du ies of his office properly. If we had thought he was responsible for the evils complained of, we would have said so in nistakable terms. What we did say, nd do again say, is, that the present cor dition of our city politics is to be deplored by every good citizen. No one man, no ne official, is responsible for it. It results from the earnest desire of many of our people to "take the bridles off," as they term it. This unbridled campaign is sure to ruin all the candidates, and will in the end hurt the city and county. We can safely say that there is not to-day a lecent man who is a candidate for office, either of the city or county, who, if he had the whole matter to go over and knew what he had to encounter, would not shrink from the scramble. Judge Milledge has discharged the duties of his office properly, and we do not desire to be understood as having impugned his motive in the slightest degree. Lorne and Louise.

The reception of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise in the dominion has been unusually demonstrative. There but to present the additional fact that the can be no doubt that the enthusiasm was amount of gold coin in the world does genuine and impromptu. Looking upon Canada, as in some sort a democratic country, we are lead to believe that the reception was as much a reception to the rusband as to the royal lady who accom panied him, and who, at least in the public mind, share his official duties. These duties, however, will not be so much in the line of governing as in the line of adding charm, dignity and grace to the society that revolves around rulers every-where. Lorne and Louise have a very difficult task before them. The people. over whom they are to govern, are so closely allied to America, and have been so strongly imbued with American ideas as to class distinctions that, for once, rovalty will have to unbend itself in order to become popular. The information collected from the farmers showing the enormous per cent. they were paying on time purchases of sup plies has almost entirely revolutionize the policy of the farmers of the state. These facts, together with those derived from the railroad statistics published by minds of the farmers the ruinous policy of purchasing supplies which could be raised on the farm.

The last publication (the Farme scientific manual) is calculated to dignify the business of farming, and at the san time supply just such information as every tiller of the soil should have Indeed, the greatest difficulty in the way of successful agriculture in Georgia is the want of just such knowledge as this manual supplies. It should be read by every farmer and farmer's son in Georgia, and the principles there taught put inco prac tice on the farm. We are informed that only 10,000 of these manuals have been published. It should be in the hands of every farmer of the state. We printed vesterday a letter showing the apprecia tion of the work of the department out side of the state. We print to-day the following letter, which is only one among many of the same character constantly being received by the commissioner of

Isle of Hore, Gai, November 21, 1878.

Dr. T. P. Janes, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir. I have to thank you for the regular receipt of publications from your office. I have just received the Farmer's scientific manual, a book calculated to be of immense value. I know of no treatise that I have perdised with more pleasure and profit. Agricultural chemistry is there embodied so plainly as to be understood by all. It is a book that should not only be in the hands of every farmer, but in our public schools, that the rising generation may learn those truths that beget in the minds of youth a desire to enter the field of agriculture.

You have accomplished much, and if every agricultural society were to publish and disseminate this treatise, the immense loss annually entailed upon our people by ghorance would be turned to profits. I mean no flattery when I say that, this book is worth the whole cost of your bureau to date. No man can read it without sippli. As a citizen of Georgia, I thank you.

Thanking you for your courtesy, I am very truly, yours. ISLE OF HOPE GAL November 21 1878 of Virginia, in the matter of two negroes who were tried by juries composed exch ively of negroes. That injustice was ione by this, there is no reason whatever to believe, but at the same time, it seems to be fair that the verdict in their case should have been reached partly by reason of the decision of representatives of their own race. Our Baltimore con temporary argues that negro juries are more severe upon their own race than white juries would be, and this is true. A negro juror is less likely to do exact ustice to a representative of his own race, simply because his sympathies are less keen and his ideas of equity somewhat obtuse. But, let this be as it may, it is nevertheless a fact that the negro should have no cause of complaint whatever. He votes, is presumed to pay taxes, and exercises other rights of citi zenship, and it must be conceded by every fair-minded man that when he goes before the courts, he should at least have a partial representation upon the juries that are to try him. Suppose, for stance, that matters should be reversed in quarters where the negroes are in power, grateful. and a colored sheriff should persist in ummoning juries composed entirely of egroes. It will be seen at once

Sherman's Plan of Resumption. The present senate refused to repeal or sentially modify the resumption act and if the senate would act on it affirmatively, Mr. Hayes would not. man's scheme, and the people can do nothing. It is to go on—to what end no ne knows. Secretary between paper and "coin"-for he dodges ander this comprehensive word - are therefore interesting, and happily we are not wholly left to conjecture. The Baltimore bankers sent a delegation to interrogate him a few days ago. They were loaded with several questions, every one of which was pertinent and pithy, and to which full and definite answers should have been given; for the interrogators and through them the people were entitled to the information sought. But under the very unnecesentitled to the first information, he evaded some of the questions, and answered after a fashion some of the others His answers boiled down show that his plan of resumption is this: Actual straight-out resumption will take place, as the law directs, only at the sub-treasury in New York; but he proposes to usher in practical resumption at the other chief ports by exercising his right to sell gold or greenbacks. In other words, he will, for example, have a clerk in Baltimore empowered to offer to all comers gold for greenbacks, instead of greenbacks for gold. This is what he calls maintaining the notes of the United States at par. It may be a violation of the resumption act and therefore objectionable; but other wise no objection can be reasonably raised to this feature of the plan.

We cannot say as much of his determination to receive, after January 1, greenbacks for customs duties. Greenbacks should be receivable for all obligations. public or private, but unfortunately the law as it stands declares otherwise. It says that all duties upon imports shall be paid "in coin or coin certificates." The argument of convenience is all he has to fall back upon. He does, however, hope that congress will authorize the paymen of duties in greenbacks, but whether it does or not, he proposes to violate the letter of the law in this particular. This is certainly cool in an officer sworn to obey the laws of the country. The Baltimore bankers also submitted these questions to him: these questions to him:

Fourth—Will standard silver dollars be issued in exchange for greeinbacks in Be filmore on and after January 1, 1879, and contrariwise; that is, will greenbacks be issued for the standard silver dollars?

Fifth—Will there be an issue of certificates for the deposit of silver with the assistant teensurer of the United States at Baltimore, and will been certificates be treated. timore, and will sheet certificates be treate as silver coin in payment of customs du ties and other indebtedness to the govern as silver coin in payment of customs duties and other indebtedness to the government?

We have carefully read the authorized version of Mr. Sherman's reply, and if there is a sentence, or a phrace, or a word in it in answer to these questions, it is invisible to our eyes. We think we invisible to our eyes. We think we invisible to our eyes. We think we would have seen it if it had been there, It was a complete dodge—a dodge that means more than may at first appear. It resistibly leads to the conclusion that the bargain between the secretary and the New York bankers holds good. It involves the practical nullification of the remonetization act. It means that the secretary will retain in the vaults of the government every possible silver dollar, and that he will widk at the efforts of the redit those that escape him." Well, there s no use of anger on our part over this villainous scheme. We prefer to remit the matter to the congress that remond tized silver by a two-thirds vote in each

Outside of the silver question we are content to await results. Secretary Sher-man proposes, with one hundred and fifty millions of gold, to redeem, not only three nbacks, but all that the greenbacks nt. All the depo from Ohio. We regret exceedingly to learn of the destruction at Gainesville of the residence of M. Van Estes by fire on Sunday night. Van was from home, and the family saved nothing of any value. This is a great calamity to him and his family these pinching times. We hope his friends will duly appreciate his misfortune and act accordingly. On last Saturday Mr. M. P. Callaway, a prominent planter of Mitchell county, was returning to his home from Albany, his horse became frightened and unmanagable, dragging the buggy over a stump, over-turning the vehicle and throwing Mr. Cal-laway beneath it. Mr. Callaway sustained painful and serious injuries, his jaw There is considerable talk in Dahlonega of building a railroad from that place, either to Gainesville, Lula City or westward to connect with the road from Marietta. Gainesville should wake up to the importance of this project and not allow her material interests to suffer by losing this road.

would cost but little, and would be a great advantage to us. Captain W. Wischhusen, of the bark Niagara, of Bremen, which is loading at Savan-nah, met with a fatal accident on Saturday. He was standing in the middle of a bridge spanning the decks of the Joe Rauers and the Niagara, and superintending the hoisting of a bale of cotton which had fallen into the water between the two vessels. As the bale was being drawn up it swerved and struck the end of the plank on which he was standing, canting it and precipitating him down the hatchway of the Joe Rauers. He fell between decks, painfully bruising his back and partially paralyzing by the shock his legs from the hips downward. He was taken up and crrried to the Savannah hospital, where he received efficient attention. His injuries, however, proved of a more serious character than was anticipated, and resulted in his death.

TH NECESSITY OF ORGANIZATION.

Hon. B. H. Washington" was handed to me this moment.

In view of our present political condition and the vital necessity for harmony in the democratic party to meet the great issues in the near future, it would give me pleasure to comply with your request. As I had the honor of presiding over the convention which organized the present democratic party in Georgia, and have been closely identified with it every hour since, it would not be inappropriate to deliver such an address as you request. But I am compelled to leave the city on an important professional engagement in Savannah in one hour from this writing. I fear I shall not be able to return except to pass through this city on my way to Washington. For these reasons I do not see that I will be able to deliver the address at this time. At the earliest day practicable I will do so.

Begging that you will accept my thanks for your kind allusions to myself, and hoping that all dissensions in the democratic party will soon disappear, I subscribe myself, with bigh regards, your obedient servant, BENJ H. HILL.

Messrs. R. L. Barry, J. R. Gramling, R. D. Spalding, Eli Weehunt, A. D. Candler and others.

THE TWO OBJECTS OF THE CONVENTION. Two of the main objects of the conve tion were as follows: 1st. To stave off by definite action a growing disagreement be tween two lines of transportation. It appears that the lines running from the west to Baltimore became ambitious of getting and Carolina by bringing them over their roads to Baltimore, and shipping thence to Charles-ton and Savannah. The Green line thought that this business properly belonged to it. To compete with the more rapid Green line route, the water routes would have had to cut rates and make up by lower freights what shippers by this line must lose in time. It was believed that this cutting of rates was about to continence when the association met. It was asked by the Green line that the rates be fixed, so that the water lines would not force them into a ruinous competition. nto a ruinous competition.

Most of the day was consumed in waiting, it being housed that the points at issue would be settled before they came formally before the convention. The convention was called together to receive the reports at last, but simply recommitted both of them. The committee then went to work again, and at about 7 o'clock brought in a compromise report.

o'clock brought in a compromise report. This report provided that the rates should be maintained by the Baltimore lines, and of course wards off the ruinous cutting that was anticipated. A PRACTICAL LOWERING OF RATES. The committee on classification made heir report, which involves some important changes. There is no reduction in the rates per se, but there are many articles that are put in classes lower than they are now in. An experienced railroader told us that the new classification would result in a practical reduction of about 20 per cent. in freights. The convention has not acted fully on this convention has not acted fully on this convention has not acted fully on this convention. The convention has not acted fully on this report, but it is thought that it will pass virtually as it was offered by the cemmittee. There are several other matter of minor importance that will come up before the convention, and the session will most probably last through to-day and possibly to-morrow. While there are, of course, points of disagreement on business topics, the convention is reported as thoroughly harmonious and sympathetic. It is a larger convention than has been held in sometime, and so many delegates arrived on yesterday that it was necessary to transfer the body from the breakfast-room to the ball-room. The door of the room was kept closed, and reporters of the room was kept closed, and reporters were politely steered off of the upper land-ing. We shall be able to give details of the new classification in to-morrow's paper.

The Southern Passenger Agents.

The Southern association of general passenger and ticket agents yesterday held another session in this city, and, with the exception of some committee work, completed its meeting and adjourned.

The principal business of this first session was to complete an organization, and then to make the division of rates and business. The rates to Florida, as stated yesterday, were fully overhauled and adjusted, and the division of business was effected in a satisfactory manner.

The belated train of Tuesday on the Western and Atlantic railroad was delayed not so much by the extra sleepers, but because a bolt on one of the eccentrics of the engine was broken. It is so rare that the Western and Atlantic railroad trains miss that the delay was quite noticeable.

There will be services at sr. Phillip's church at half-past ten this morning. The Eniscopal church always observes this as a sort of harvest feast. The exercises will be peculiarly interesting. The altar will be beautifully decorated with fruits and flowers. Rev. Mr. Poute will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion. The choir is expected to furnish some rare music. The day is suggestive of many things, and it is hoped that in the hearts of many it may awaken those pure sympathies which work in beautiful deeds of charity and good will toward men.

nov28 dit Forty fine Turkeys this morning at R. A. Hemphill's, 102 Peachtree street, 535 nov28 dlt To the Citizens of Atlanta

Having consented to become a candidate or mayor of this city, I deem it due to my elf and you that I announce certain prin-ciples and views which I shall advocate, if First of all, I am for the lowest taxes pos-sible, consistent with the faith of the city, and such public improvements as prudence and such public improvements as prudence may dictate.

Secondly, I am in favor of paying the clerk of council and city marshal reasonable salaries for their services and having all the costs and perquisites now enjoyed by those officials paid into the treasury, that the tax-payers may get the benefit of this money which has been enriching a few men too long at the expense of the people. My jurigment is that instead of paying so much money to those officers more could with propriety, be spent on the police, who, by day and night, guard our lives and property.

day and night, guard our fives and property.

As to our public schools I shall do all in my power to foster and protect them, and establish such others as the growth of our population may demand. I have ever believed it cheaper to pay for the education of the masses than to build jails and penitemitaries to punish the ignorant and vicious. Lastly, I am against all rings and cliques, nor will I promise any one my support for office in advance of my election. Nothing the street process for office shall control my constitutions for office in advance of my election. Nothing the street process for office shall control my constitutions for office shall control my constitutions. office in advance of my election. Nothing but fitness for office shall control my con-duct in the selection of public servants. If these views suit you I hope to receive your support at the ballot-box.
